Goal: Come up with a service we can provide people (perhaps using the apps tried as reference) that involves fortune telling

How could we combine or modify the ideas from other apps?

Use categories to get specific fortunes/help on, say career or love

Instead of API, we could generate AI prompts and map it to the user selected Job/Relationship. Start broad (e.g. student status, "do you procrastinate")

Is it realistic to code and design this feature in only a few weeks?

How can we separate the service into specific features

Tarot cards

Ask questions about personal life

ChatGPT COULD be used later on to generate responses

Possibly take photo for hand reading, but ask for info first and only predict based on the info

Suggest ancient stories and myths for users that mirror their personal lives based on responses.

Other things: Horoscopes (not just month but also astrology/everyday/star alignment), Zodiac, 8-Ball, Chinese Zodiac

How do we make it look good?

Some sort of visual/impact (e.g. some delay on the divination reveal)

Fortune cookie decoration and sound effect!

How do we balance perceived user privacy and services?

Divide the app's services based on how much information has to be given

Pick 2-3 services based on amount of user input /commitment required

1. Tarot cards (artistic design element such as shuffling?, can be based on user input relevant to them, simpler). A sense of control over your fate.
2. Horoscopes
- Perhaps easier to make pretty.
- Some issues with info overflow/complex
- Manipulation of horoscope?
- Or advice on what to do based on horoscope/horoscope relationships
- Possibly add a Chinese Zodiac feature that's similar?
3. Somehow incorporate something more practical than just descriptions of the user (e.g. cuisine suggestions????)
